Introduction to Judaism Class

Wednesdays beginning May 23 7:00p.m.— 8:30 p.m.

The topics are designed for the general community including a Historic Perspective of Judaism, Ethics, Spiritualism, Holiday Observances, Zionism, and Relationship To Other World Religions. This is the first in a series of classes taught by Rabbi Goldstein for those seeking to convert to Judaism but anyone wishing to attend is welcome. Contact the synagogue by phone or email if you have any questions. (863) 682-8616 or office@templeemanuellakeland.com

Book Club

Our next meeting will be held on Tuesday, October 16 in the Media Center of the Education Building. Our next book selection is Jewboy of the South by Don Koplen. It is available on Amazon in paperback and kindle. We will have an optional lunch out following the meeting. Contact Jane with any questions Jane7751@aol.com.

The books is available at:

<https://smile.amazon.com/Jewboy-South-Don-Koplen/dp/1546923667/>

A Southern story is never a straight line to the end point. Ask a southerner about an event or how to get to a place and you'll hear about everyone and everything and everywhere along the way. It lurches forward, then backtracks, goes off center, infuriates and, eventually, rediscovers its luscious, rich, often humorous and just as often, perverse, path. It's made of, like the South itself, a soup pot of characters—redneck, slave roots, sex, blood, love, hate, war, religion, intrigue and wink of the eye—all chopped, diced and thrown into its cauldron. Often as not, it boils into a mess. But somehow, sometimes, if you enjoy a mélange of tastes, it blends into a delicious, or at least colorful, potage. So settle in, relax and enjoy this saga about a small-town southern Jewish boy and the characters who helped him grow up, learn about sex versus love, black and white, true religion, soul music and jazz, all while attempting to keep the love of his life, the Klan minister's daughter, and to free an innocent black man, his carpenter hero.
